I'm wondering what search terms or filters I should use to find a suitable paper? I have searched the Loyola Libraries system and several journals but all of the articles I am finding appear to either be too complex in subject matter or not pertain to multivariate. I don't have any particular field of interest but I'm hoping to find a paper that only uses the basic methods of multivariate up to chapter 4.

These are all great responses thank you all.

We will have Greer Martin come in tomorrow to talk more through this for the first 10-15 minutes of class. But I think you all are off to a good start!

Given the quick nature I extended the approval due date to this Sunday night at 11:55 pm.
